Q1. Which of the following statement(s) is/are correct based on the information given in the passage?

- I. The village of Ambalur is home to plantations of plantain, tapioca, and rubber.
- II. Kiko, the family cat, shared a close bond with Ammini, the cow.
- III. Pathrose shared a strong bond with Unni, who always believed in his potential.

Read the following passage and answer the given questions.

In the southern part of Kerala lies the village of Ambalur, surrounded by vast grasslands and lush farms. Overlooked by the rocky Ambu hills, this quiet village is home to plantations of plantain, tapioca, and rubber. However, its distance from the main town makes it prone to petty crimes, prompting Mariamma, a farm owner new to Ambalur, to get a dog for security.

This is how Pathrose arrived; a timid puppy kept in a small enclosure. He grew up with Mariamma's family and formed a strong bond with her son, Unni, who treated him with kindness and patience. While others mocked Pathrose for being easily scared—jumping at rustling leaves or avoiding distant farms—Unni always believed he would show his bravery one day. Pathrose loved Unni, and Unni loved Pathrose. One evening, Unni was out for a walk, though he arrived earlier than planned. He sensed something was off. As he watched, a thief ran, dragging a bag into the distance. By the time the thief was caught, Pathrose was barking loudly. Mariamma was shocked. Pathrose's actions had earned him a new status in the village. From that day on, Pathrose walked through the village with his head held high, knowing he had finally earned his place.

- (a) Only I
- (b) Only II
- (c) Only III
- (d) Both I and II
- (e) Both II and III

Ans.(d)

Pathrose loved chasing his tail and barking at Kiko, the family's indifferent cat. Though the villagers laughed at him, Unni remained convinced that Pathrose had courage deep inside him.

One evening, a group of men arrived, wanting to buy Ammini, the family's cow. Mariamma agreed, though hesitantly, when they insisted on taking her at night. However, at 1 a.m., during heavy rain, the men arrived earlier than planned. While everyone else slept, only Pathrose sensed something was wrong.

As he watched, he suddenly heard Mariamma's cries. Though scared, he ran to Unni's window and barked loudly to wake him. Then, he sprinted through the village, alerting the neighbors before rushing back. He found Mariamma unconscious and Unni tied to a post. Thinking quickly, Pathrose grabbed a bag of stolen valuables and ran, dragging the thief with him. He raced around the house repeatedly, tiring the man out before disappearing into the distant fields.

By the time the villagers arrived, the thieves were caught. Pathrose returned with the stolen items, and his once-mocked instincts were now praised. Mariamma proudly called him not just brave but also clever.

Pathrose's actions changed how the village saw him. Once ridiculed, he became a hero, proving that courage comes in different forms. Even Kiko the cat, who once teased him, now shared her favorite sunny spots with him.

Pathrose was no longer just a dog; he was a hero. He spoke of his cleverness, turning heads and earning respect. His head held high, he walked through the village, a true hero.

- (a) Villagers started to mock him.
- (b) He was later praised for his bravery.
- (c) They teased him for being a coward.
- (d) Seen as a laughing stock.
- (e) Mocked for being a thief.

Ans.(b)

Q3. How did Pathrose contribute to his capture? Read the following passage and answer the given questions.

In the southern village of Ambalur, surrounded by lush farms, there was a small, old house. Overlooked by a dense forest, it was a quiet place.

However, its owner, Mariamma, was a new farm owner who had just moved from the city. She was new to Ambalur and its customs. She had a dog, Pathrose, who was a stray.

This is how Pathrose, a small, timid puppy kept in a small enclosure, grew up with Mariamma's family and formed a strong bond with her son, Unni, who treated him with love and patience. Villagers mocked Pathrose for being easily scared—jumping at rustling leaves or avoiding the sun.
