Directions (21-30): Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions given below it. Certain words are given in bold to help you locate them while answering some of the questions.

The approval of the PM POSHAN scheme by the Cabinet Committee on Economic Affairs until 2025-26 comes at a critical time when real income declines and the economic impact of the COVID-19 pandemic have affected the ability of families to ensure good nutrition. The findings in Phase I of the NFHS-5 for 22 States and Union Territories in December 2020 were shocking: childhood stunting rose in 13 States, there was high prevalence of anaemia among children and women, and wasting was a serious concern in 12 States. The slippage over the previous survey period exposes the worsening scourge of malnutrition, threatening to deprive millions of children of a fully productive adult life. It will take a serious effort to address this hidden crisis, backed by strong budgetary commitment. The centrally supported hot meal programme in Government and Government-aided schools, covering 11.8 crore children, will be supplemented with nutritional elements in identified aspirational districts and areas with high anaemia. The scheme, which is proposed to be extended to pre-primary children, provides for social audit, creation of school nutritional gardens to source fresh produce, involvement of farmer-producer organisations as providers, and lays emphasis on local food traditions. While these are positive features, momentum towards eradicating malnutrition hinges crucially on annual budgetary outlays and proof of POSHAN's working will lie in measurable outcomes.

Support for the PM POSHAN, which the Government says has been approved over the five-year period at ₹1,30,794 crore, including ₹31,733 crore from States and UTs, must remain elastic. While some child growth metrics such as stunting require a longer window to measure, problems such as anaemia and low weight lend themselves to speedy amelioration. The Government must demonstrate that Saksham Anganwadi-Mission POSHAN 2.0, which amalgamates the POSHAN Abhiyan and schemes covering anganwadis, crèches and adolescent girls, is fiscally stronger than its erstwhile component parts. There must be a meaningful increase in the current Budget estimate over the combined past outlay for the subsumed individual schemes. On nutritional planning, the renewed plan should introduce a greater diversity of diets that compensates for micronutrient and protein deficiency. Strong supplementation of nutrition at school, in the community, and at childcare centres is critical at a time when criticism of food inflation has met with a tone-deaf response, and pandemic-induced income declines have depressed essential consumption. The lower offtake of foodgrains for the noon meal scheme during the pandemic over the previous year and patchy food distribution mechanisms in many States should _____(I)_____.The future of a generation of Indians is at stake.

Solutions

S1. Ans.(b)

Sol. In the given sentence, the error lies in part (C) of the sentence. Replace 'him' with 'he' in part (C). 'He' is a subject pronoun and 'Him' is an object pronoun so 'it is he' is correct to use here. The word we use here must be able to function as the subject. In order for a pronoun to function as the subject, it must be in the nominative form. Hence, option (b) is the most suitable answer choice.

S2. Ans.(b)

Sol. In the given sentence, the error lies in part (C) of the sentence. Here replace 'any' with 'all' in part (C). 'Any other' takes a singular noun after it and 'all other' takes a plural noun after it. Hence, option (b) is the most suitable answer choice.

S3. Ans.(d)

Sol. In the given sentence, the error lies in part (D) of the sentence. Here replace 'resulted' with 'resulting' in part (D). The given sentence is present tense, hence use of the present form of the verb is correct. Hence, option (d) is the most suitable answer choice.

S4. Ans.(b)

Sol. In the given sentence, the error lies in part (C) of the sentence. Replace 'thousands' with 'thousand' in part (C). As we are already using 'Afghan lives' in its plural form hence use of 'thousands' is incorrect here. 'Hundred thousand' refers to an integer equal to or greater than ten. adjective. denoting a quantity consisting of 100,000 items or units. Hence, option (b) is the most suitable answer choice.

S5. Ans.(d)

Sol. In the given sentence, the error lies in part (D) of the sentence. Use 'has' in place of 'have' after 'it' in part (D). Here 'it' refers to 'advice' which is in singular form. Hence, option (d) is the most suitable answer choice.

S6. Ans.(e)

Sol. The given sentence is grammatically and contextually correct. Hence, option (e) is the most suitable answer choice.

S7. Ans.(c)

Sol. In the given sentence, the error lies in part (A) of the sentence. To modify the verb 'refused' an adverb 'rightly' is required here. Use of the adjective 'righteous' is grammatically incorrect here. Hence, option (c) is the most suitable answer choice.
